Partnering With Fixedia

Fixedia was crafted through listening and working with media and business professionals around the world.

Collaboration and partnership is at the heart of Fixedia.

As the site is being introduced into the market, partnering with relevant organisations, websites and individuals is a key priority for us.

Fixedia is a new service but through word of mouth and minimal marketing the site has already attracted:

- A growing community of thousands of media and business influencers
- A significant level of traffic from around the world
- A prominent social media presence on popular networks

As we launch the site into the market we are looking to establish an ongoing relationship with carefully selected industry and solution partners who we can work alongside and promote.

Service Providers

If you think Fixedia could benefit from the business, marketing or communication services you provide, please get in touch.

Technology Providers

We are always looking for ways to develop the site and integrate further features for our users. Do get in touch if you think you could help us enhance and develop www.fixedia.com.

Content Distributors

Press release distribution is a core component of Fixedia's services, and we are keen to work with distribution partners such as content aggregators and news outlets. Contact the Fixedia team to discuss how we can tailor news feeds specific to your site.

Associations/ Training Providers

The goal of Fixedia is to open up communication and the exchange of ideas and information between media professionals worldwide. Establishing a relationship with and promoting training providers and associations to our users is a key component in realising this goal.

Individual Influencers

Are you an established industry figure? Do you have words of wisdom to share with our users? If so we would love to hear from you.

Please contact Managing Director Suki Johal if you are interested in any of the above partnership opportunities. If you do not fit into any of these sectors but have a partnership proposal, send us an email anyway with your ideas.
